American Said to Appear on Kabul TV

MOSCOW—A man identified as "U.S. Citizen Robert Lee," who was arrested in Kabul in February, has appeared on Kabul television to tell viewers he saw representatives of Western countries and China "launching on the territory of Pakistan and Afghanistan itself, directed at sabotaging the measures taken by the Afghan government," the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

The date of Lee's Kabul television appearance was not revealed. Tass first reported Lee's arrest after the February shopkeepers' strike in Kabul and accused him of being a CIA agent.

On Wednesday, a man identified as Lee was interviewed on Soviet television.
